Rapidly becoming known as one of the most inspiring motivational speakers and business coaches around, Ian Rose is also one of Great Britain's most successful Paralympic Judoka (a judo expert, in other words). He was a Torchbearer and an Opening Ceremony performer for the London 2012 Paralympic Games, as well as winner of two Paralympic, five World Championship and nine European Championship medals. Ian now focusses on motivating and inspiring others to achieve their full potential ... just as he has!

Practice makes progress to success!

Motivational Speaker

Keeping his audience captivated from the outset, Ian recounts his story of growing from a shy child, teased for his disability, into a highly successful and motivated man. Your audience will be inspired by his vision and drive to succeed, learning from him as he tells you how to apply his techniques to your needs.

Corporate Coaching and Business Workshops

Ian's coaching and business workshops help groups and individuals to achieve their goals by using his Three Steps to Success principles: Offering three different options that all include his Three Steps to Success motivational talk, and a number of Skype coaching sessions for an agreed number of staff.

1. Keep it simple
2. Practice makes progression, not perfection
3. What's in your Cup of Best?

Testimonials

"Absolutely brilliant motivator" and "Simply inspirationally outstanding" are just two comments received from audience members at conferences where Ian delivered his Three Steps to Success presentation.

"...We conducted feedback ourselves on the entire event and the Ian Rose session was by far the most popular. Many comments mentioned how good it was to have an external inspirational speaker deliver to them, who kept them enthralled for two hours. The experience as a whole was truly inspiring, which is exactly what we were trying to achieve..."
